BRITISH NATIONAL BIBLIOGRAPHY

The British National Bibliography (BNB) is the national bibliography of the United Kingdom. It lists and describes the books and serials newly published in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland that are received by the British Library under legal deposit as provided for in various Acts of Parliament. It also includes information on forthcoming titles supplied under the British Library's Cataloguing-in-Publication Programme (see below). Each weekly issue is in two sequences:

- Recently Received & Forthcoming Titles
  Titles in this classified sequence are arranged by subject according to the schedules of the 22nd edition of the Dewey Decimal Classification and catalogued according to the 2nd edition of the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules (1998 revision).

- Name and Title Index
  All the names and titles which appear in the main record in the classified sequence are given entries in this index. These will include names of editors, compilers, etc. as well as authors, and may be either corporate or personal. Names indexed as the subject of a work are marked with a dagger (†). Collective and uniform titles are indexed as well as main titles.

The last weekly issue of each month includes a cumulated subject index to that month's titles. Entries are arranged by Library of Congress Subject Heading and terms from Guidelines on subject access to individual works of fiction, drama, etc. (Chicago: ALA, 1990).

Information on forthcoming titles is supplied by publishers who participate in the British Library's Cataloguing-in-Publication (CIP) Programme. Under this scheme information on titles to be published up to three months ahead are included in the classified sequence with the note 'CIP entry' together with the expected month of publication. Such records are marked with an asterisk (*). Subsequent to their publication and receipt by the British Library such titles are re-listed and carry the note 'Formerly CIP'.
