London, married and had three children. The cello was, however, not neglected and, as soloist, recitalist, Chamber musician and freelance player, she was very active in and around London. She also taught at the Royal Academy of Music and at the Guildhall School of Music. In 1986, she moved with her family to Edmonton where she has become part of the Edmonton musical scene. She performs regularly as recitalist and chamber musician and has appeared as soloist with the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra and the Alberta Baroque Ensemble. She teaches at the University of Alberta and at Alberta College.

Performing regularly throughout Canada, the United States and France, Stéphane Lemelin has appeared as a recitalist on four continents. He has been acclaimed as soloist with many orchestras including the Montreal Symphony, the Edmonton Symphony and the Orchestra of Radio-Television Luxembourg. He has also collaborated in chamber music performances with such artists as Angela Cheng and the St. Lawrence String Quartet. Mr Lemelin has been heard in numerous nationwide broadcasts on CBC radio as well as on WQXR Radio in New York City.

Mr Lemelin's recent tour of the eastern United States included a highly acclaimed debut recital in Boston. He is also giving numerous recitals in Canada this season and is performing with many orchestras including the CBC Vancouver Orchestra. Recent engagements include a concert with the Muir String Quartet at the Lanaudière International Festival in July, a recital in Washington D.C. in September and performances with the Montreal Symphony under Charles Dutoit in October. Next season Mr Lemelin is touring in Canada, the United States, England, France and Germany.

The winner of no less than six national and international prizes in competitions which include the Robert Casadesus International Competition in Cleveland, Mr Lemelin has also won many grants from the Canada Council, the Quebec and Alberta governments and the Austrian Government. He studied with Leon Fleisher, Karl-Ulrich Schnabel, Boris Berman and Claude Frank and holds a doctorate from Yale University. A native of Quebec, he now lives in Edmonton where he teaches at the University of Alberta.

His debut compact disc of works of Schumann and Schubert on Scandinavian Records' SRI Classics label has received extensive critical acclaim. Upcoming releases include a recording with clarinetist James Campbell, the complete Nocturnes of Gabriel Fauré, and works for piano and orchestra by Franck and Fauré to be recorded with the CBC Vancouver Orchestra.
