Welcome to the University of Alberta’s Department of Music. Our department is committed to excellence in the performance, creation, study, and teaching of music. An active part of Edmonton’s diverse musical community, the department contributes innovative research and creative activity, inspiring performances, and informed musical leadership at the local, national, and international levels.

Established in 1945 and grounded in a rich historical and cultural heritage, the Department of Music provides the highest caliber of education to our community. From our vibrant programs to our award-winning faculty and staff, we are constantly working to better equip students with the skills they need to succeed. As a team, we are driven to inspire students, to facilitate opportunities for them, and to broaden their creativity in music and in life – supporting engaged learning from passion to perfection. We are committed to preserving classic traditions while forging new paths. Students can explore music history, theory, musicology and ethnomusicology and develop their skills in classical music, composition, traditional and popular music, and electroacoustic sound art. Immerse yourself in intensive study, explore our many outreach offerings, or study abroad to discover how different sonic worlds interact.

Your donation today will support the Department in a variety of ways, including instrument renewal, scholarships, music library acquisitions and archival recordings. We thank you for sharing your time with us and hope that you will join us throughout the academic year for some of the many performances presented by the Department of Music at the University of Alberta. Thank you!
