

FEATURED ARTICLES: ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Andre Matheusik

Andre received his Bachelor of Commerce from McGill University and his Juris Doctor from the University of Calgary. He was called to the bar this year. The author is grateful to Dr. Fenner Stewart for engaging in helpful discussions regarding the topics presented in this article and to the anonymous expert reviewers for their invaluable comments.

Tori N. Chiu

Tori is a securities lawyer at Blake, Cassels & Graydon LLP. They received their Juris Doctor with distinction from the University of Alberta in 2022. The author is grateful to Professor Mitchell McInnes, who supervised the creation of the initial draft of this article.

Elisa M. Genuis

Elisa M Genuis, JD, graduated from the University of Alberta Faculty of Law in 2020 as the bronze medalist for her year. While in law school, she was the recipient of the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation scholarship for the potential to make a strong contribution to the field of natural resources law. Upon graduation, she clerked with the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta (as it then was), completed her articles with Alberta Justice and Solicitor General, and worked as a solicitor with the Government of Alberta's Energy Legal Services branch. She is now a Crown Prosecutor with the Alberta Crown Prosecution Service. She is passionate about both Alberta's economy and the environment, and hopes to make a small step towards reconciling these competing priorities by engaging in creative dialogue about issues like water use in fracking.

ALBERTA LAW REVIEW

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Alberta Law Review (ALR) is a student-run publication whose primary purpose is to enhance discourse on Canadian legal issues. Founded in 1955, the ALR is published by the Alberta Law Review Society, an organization consisting of law students at the University of Alberta and the University of Calgary.

FEATURED ARTICLES

Unfinished Business in Unwritten Justice: Unwritten Constitutional Principles after Toronto (City) v Ontario (Attorney General) by Andre Matheusik

Equitable Crime and Constructive Punishment: Deemed and Actual Agency Gains in Canadian Law by Tori N. Chiu

Fracking and Water Use in Alberta: A Critical Review by Elisa M. Genuis

MEET THE EDITORIAL TEAM CO-EDITORS

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

Damon Atwood

Damon is a third-year J.D. student at the University of Alberta, Faculty of Law. Prior to law school, he served as a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for over a decade.

Jessica Csandl

Jessica is a third-year J.D. student at the University of Alberta, Faculty of Law. Prior to law school, she received a BSc in Environmental and Conservation Science, with distinction.

UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY

Lena Clayton

With a background in sciences, Lena worked in many research related roles before attending law school: researching glass sponges and river water quality, and even genealogic research. This year, Lena will be completing the final year of her JD with a certificate in common law in French.

Alec Fader

Alec is a 3L student at the University of Calgary Faculty of Law, with an interest in corporate law. Prior to law school, Alec attended Western University, where he was an editor on The Social Contract – Western University's undergraduate political science journal.

We would love for you to get involved with our journal!
To learn more about our journal or submit your work, scan the QR code to visit our website or contact us at info@albertalawreview.com:

