The report is an appeal to strengthen our public health system in Canada, in order to ensure we are better equipped against present and future health threats. COVID-19 has greatly tested public health systems in Canada and around the world. From the onset of the pandemic, Canada's public health system was thrust into the spotlight, as the first line of defense against the SARS-CoV-2 virus. As the pandemic has continued to unfold, we have witnessed our public health system rapidly adapt to meet the challenge of protecting the health of Canadians. It has risen to the occasion - but at a serious cost: our public health system is stretched dangerously thin and it is in need of critical reinforcements." The Equal Rights Coalition on the nexus between democracy and the human rights of LGBTI persons issued a statement: "On the occasion of the Summit for Democracy, the undersigned members of the Equal Rights Coalition affirm that the revitalization of democracy within our own nations and around the world is essential to promoting and protecting human rights, especially for those most vulnerable including lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI) persons. Threats to the rule of law, rising levels of inequality, authoritarianism, and corruption are eroding democracy in every region, with grave consequences for LGBTI persons, among others. Persistent criminalization of LGBTI status and ongoing violence and discrimination undermine the ability of LGBTI persons to fully participate in democratic and political processes." The full statement is available online.

We reconfirm our support for the efforts of France and Germany in the Normandy Format to achieve full implementation of the Minsk Agreements in order to resolve the conflict in eastern Ukraine." It is our moral obligation to Survivors to pursue the truth and to support them, as well as those suffering from intergenerational trauma in their search for closure. Addressing the ongoing impacts of Residential Schools is at the heart of reconciliation and a renewal of the relationship between Indigenous Peoples who attended these schools, their families and communities, and all Canadians." We thank all Parties – the Assembly of First Nations, First Nations Child and Family Caring Society, Chiefs of Ontario, Nishnawbe Aski

Nation, and Moushoom/Trout – for their work and shared commitment to this process. We also thank the Honourable Murray Sinclair and his team for facilitating these negotiations. The survivors of residential schools identified child welfare and Jordan's Principle as their top Calls to Action. Press Release Summary - Non-Governmental

New Democratic Party of Canada

New Democrats called on Prime Minister Justin Trudeau (Papineau, Que.) to reverse the cut to the Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) that is making it difficult for working seniors to make ends meet. The NDP is urging the government to fix this cut in support for seniors before the end of the week when the House rises until January 31st. "The Liberal government stood by and said their hands were tied when the richest companies took pandemic support to pay bonuses to wealthy executives or to pay dividends to rich shareholders. Instead of making the wealthiest pay back the help they took and didn't need, the Liberal government is going after our country's poorest seniors and putting them in an impossible situation," said NDP Finance Critic Daniel Blaikie (Elmwood--Transcona, Man.). "Working seniors already struggle to make ends meet. Denying them the GIS, or severely reducing it, as a result of last year's emergency benefits is not only unfair but will make it impossible for some of them to make rent. The point of the emergency benefits was to prevent evictions and keep food on the table, not to merely delay homelessness and hunger." The full release is available online. Call 613-222-2351.

NDP Critic Defence Critic Lindsay Mathyssen (London--Fanshawe, Ont.) issued a statement: "Women and men in the Canadian Armed Forces, civilians at the Department of National Defence and veterans, have been subjected to a toxic culture where sexual misconduct has been pervasive for decades. Successive governments have ignored their calls to address it and denied them justice. Service men and women deserve an apology from this Liberal government for failing to take concrete steps to keep them safe at work and allowing everyone to serve equally. But an apology alone doesn't make up for six years of inaction. Sympathy and words won't solve the pervasive problems if they aren't backed up with real, urgent action." The full release is available online. Call 613-222-2351.

NDP Families, Children and Social Development Critic Leah Gazan (Winnipeg Centre, Man.) issued a statement: "New Democrats welcome a childcare deal in New Brunswick – it is long overdue. The Liberals have been promising Canadian families affordable childcare since 1993, and since then, families have spent thousands of dollars every year in childcare expenses. In some parts of the country, the cost of childcare is the same as having a second mortgage. Families deserve quality accessible, affordable and culturally appropriate childcare in their community, when they need it. Decades of inaction from the government has had real economic impacts for families. According to Campaign 2000, the family economic disparity is so significant that the top ten per cent of families with children held nearly the same share of income as the bottom 50 per cent of families with children." The full release is available online. Call 613-222-2351.

The Bloc Québécois called on the government to call a face-to-face meeting of all the premiers in order as soon as possible to obtain a lasting and unconditional increase in health transfers. Call 613-402-3538.

Conservative Party of Canada

Conservative MPs Mike Lake (Edmonton—Wetaskiwin, Alta.), Todd Doherty (Cariboo--Prince George, B.C.) and Luc Berthold (Mégantic--L'Erable, Que.) issued a statement: "One year ago today, all parliamentarians voted in favour of a motion brought forward by Conservative MP Todd Doherty to create a national three-digit suicide prevention hotline in Canada. Canadians were inspired to see parliamentarians come together and unanimously support this life-saving initiative to ensure Canadians struggling with their mental health will have someone to call in their darkest hour. 365 days later, the Liberal government has still not implemented this hotline. The longer this is delayed, the more lives will tragically be lost to suicide in Canada. Canada's Conservatives are calling on the Liberal government to step up and commit to an implementation date and clear funding for a national three-digit suicide prevention hotline in Canada." Call 613-995-8695.

Conservative Shadow Minister for Finance Pierre Poilievre (Carleton, Ont.) called for an end to the Liberal inflation tax and outlined Conservative expectations in the Economic and Fiscal Update 2021. "Half a trillion dollars in Liberal deficits have ballooned inflation to an 18-year high. Housing and gas prices are up by a third. Families will pay an additional $1000 next year to feed themselves. The Economic and Fiscal Update is an opportunity for Finance Minister and Deputy Prime Minister Chrystia Freeland (University-Rosedale, Ont.) to announce an end to the inflation tax by restoring fiscal discipline, returning to pre-COVID levels of spending, and by encouraging paychecks over government checks." Call 613-295-1797.

Canadian Public Health Association

The Canadian Public Health Association (CPHA) applauds the 2021 annual report issued by the Chief Public Health Officer of Canada, Dr. Theresa Tam. Entitled A Vision to Transform Canada's Public Health System, the report provides an overview of Canada's pandemic experience and suggests ways strengthen Canada's public health systems so that we can be better prepared for the next health crisis. Ian Culbert, executive director of CPHA, stated "The COVID-19 pandemic has revealed both the strengths and the weaknesses in our national public health response. Chief among our concerns is that it revealed and, in some cases, made worse the inequities in our society. But it also provides us the opportunity post-pandemic to improve our systems so that we are better prepared for the next major infectious disease outbreak." call 613-725-3769 x 160.
