

ABOUT SPECTRUM

WHAT WE PUBLISH

Spectrum publishes undergraduate work in all disciplines, and in a variety of formats, provided the work is driven by an underlying research question. This includes (but is not limited to):

- research articles
- review articles
- music
- video
- visual arts & design
- curatorial projects
- research-creation

Authors must be a current undergraduate student or recent graduate (within 1 year) at any post-secondary institution, in any faculty.

Current graduate students are not eligible to submit work to Spectrum.

LEARN MORE:

www.spectrumjournal.ca

FROM THE CURRENT ISSUE

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: September 2024

Autistics, Myths and Robots: Artistic Resistance to Dominant Disability Discourse

Jan A. Wozniak
Psychology Department, Toronto Metropolitan University

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: September 2024

What makes transitional housing in Manitoba unsafe for transgender people?

Matthew Paterson¹, Dr. Julie Chamberlain²
¹Social Work, University of Regina

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: August 2024

From Participant to Partner: Applying Indigenous Understandings of Treaties to Canada's Environmental Impact Assessment Processes

Claire Neilson
Faculty of Native Studies, University of Alberta

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: July 2024

Supporting Indigenous Youth to Live with Continued Resilience, Meaning and Hope

Hanna Sutherland¹, Samantha Sutherland², George Minde³, Raeanne Rondeau⁴, Ingrid Nielssen⁵, and Kristin Flemons⁶
¹Métis Nation of Alberta, PaCER Program Graduate
²Mount Royal University, Department of Social Work, PaCER Program Graduate
³University of Calgary, International Indigenous Studies, PaCER Program Graduate
⁴PaCER Program Graduate
⁵Patient Engagement Coordinator, AbSPORU
⁶Indigenous Wellness Core, Alberta Health Services

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: July 2024

Retention of Underrepresented Minority Undergraduates in STEM: Applying Social Cognitive Theory and the SAFE Model

Alexander P. Abramenko¹ and Megan A. Nadzan²
¹Biology Department, Haverford College
²Psychology Department, Haverford College

SPECTRUM PUBLISHED: July 2024

Understanding Political Integration Among Syrian Refugees in Calgary

Mathew Vitale, Dr. Leah Hamilton
Department of Psychology, Faculty of Arts, University of Calgary

/ COMPUTER SCIENCE

/ ENGINEERING

/ FINE ARTS

/ HEALTH SCIENCES

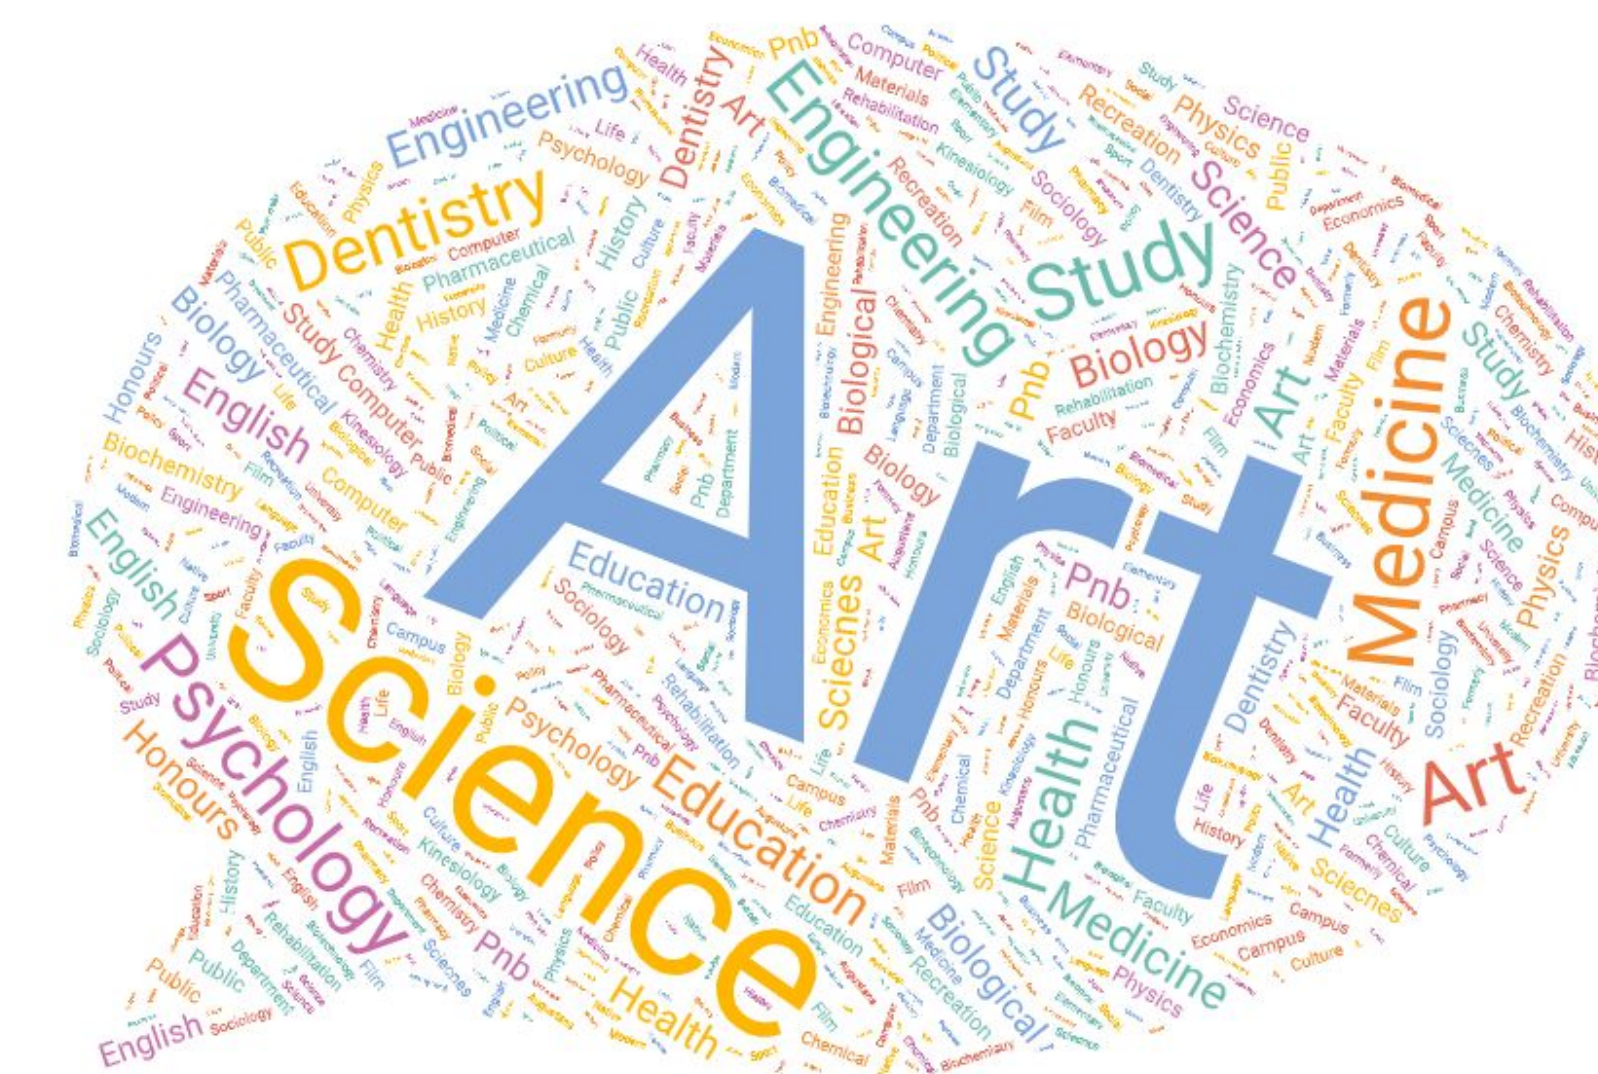

/ HUMANITIES

/ NATURAL SCIENCES

/ SOCIAL SCIENCES

BECOME A REVIEWER

Spectrum seeks undergraduate & graduate reviewers from a variety of disciplines willing to commit a few hours 1-2 times per year to review submissions and provide constructive feedback to authors.

FROM OUR EDITORIAL TEAM

"As an Honors student in Psychology, I hope to contribute my experience with the "front end" of academic research writing to Spectrum journal. At the same time, I am excited to be a Submissions Editor at Spectrum because it provides me with an opportunity to learn the "back end" of the peer-review, editing, and publication processes."
~Valerie (Submissions Editor)

"For me, joining the Spectrum journal has been about gaining experience in research articles and learning the publication process from an internal perspective. My degree is in biology and psychology and I feel like this has helped me as an editor to discern between papers in this field while also being able to learn about many new topics that I may not have been as familiar with prior to this opportunity. " ~Yasmine (Submissions Editor)

We welcome inquiries from other student journals regarding opportunities for collaboration.